

Our group maintained a pretty good workflow through this sprint, and a lot of the lat minute work was due to our group's preparations for CSC343, so overall productivity was but a little slower near the end